This Week in Crypto

This week in Crypto was very exciting with the Crypto market cap rallying up to approximately $2.15 trillion dollars after two weeks of FUD filled news. On September 30th, Jerome Powell, 16th Chair of the Federal Reserve announced that the Federal Reserve has “no intention of banning Crypto” which signaled a possible win for Crypto down the road. In the Crypto gaming world Axie Infinity rewards early players with a $60M AXS airdrop as well as enables a staking feature with approximately $150M worth of rewards planning to be distributed. If you haven’t heard of Axie Infinity it is one of the most successful Crypto based games where players can play to earn AXS tokens. Due to its major popularity the token has seen tremendous growth over the last 3 months. The Cryptonairz team has been growing in size and events, make sure to tune in on YouTube where we also host daily Crypto news, host various events with notable individuals and even post guides. ## New Projects

This week's new reviewed projects includes the following projects:

- Morpheus Network
- Wonderland (TIME)
- OriginTrail (TRAC)
- Divi (DIVI)

If you are interested in more details about this project please refer to the write ups in the discord or ask one of our moderators.

StrongBlock Updates

StrongBlock has continued to expand the list of StrongBlock holders who can launch the new DVPN Sentinel nodes. StrongBlock has announced that it will be providing its Node-as-a-Service (NaaS) in collaboration with Fantom (FTM) and also MATIC (Polygon), which are two incredibly solid projects to bring aboard the strong network. In the weekly AMA David Moss mentioned that Strong is working on node migration for individuals who have had compromised wallets. Lastly, it was mentioned that a form of fractional node ownership is in the works.
